Dear friends,

As we close out the fiscal year of 2010, we find ourselves in new homes. We have a brand new factory in the works in Fitzgerald, GA that is going up quickly and in just the past 60 days, our management team has relocated from DC, Texas, Arkansas and Colorado to a new, singular location in Charlotte, NC. It has been amazing to see our dream go from plans to reality in the last couple of months and we know that bigger milestones and challenges lie ahead.

This year began with struggles as we chased funding opportunities all over the world in pursuit of partners who could help us realize our dream. Several generous and large donations secured both our future in Fitzgerald, in proximity to one of the world’s largest peanut paste processors, and our ability to launch the next production phase. These milestones were crucial and would not have been possible without the great partners who have come along side our team.

This year will also present some exciting challenges and opportunities, perhaps the largest of which is our venture in Rwanda. Bret Raymond and his family have moved to Kigali, Rwanda. In the coming year, we will be leading the crucial and important work of an efficacy study for the MANA RUTF formula to insure that we get the best outcomes from our improvements and changes to existing RUTF formulas. Without this study, and clinical proof of efficacy, we cannot proceed as an approved supplier to UNICEF and others. They will also be investigating opportunities to begin an RUTF production facility in Kigali so that MANA can partner with UNICEF and the wider nutrition community in championing shared goals of local production.

Above all, we thank God for his faithfulness to us and we owe great gratitude to the hundreds of smaller donors who have heard us articulate our dream and are stepping in to help through sacrificial giving.

It is our sincere hope that this annual report will provide both information and inspiration to those seeking to learn more about the MANA mission to save lives though the production of ready-to-use foods.

Best,
Mark
Wal-Mart Senior Vice President of Corporate Finance, Brett Biggs, welcomed MANA and its partners for a day-long summit focusing on MANA’s role in the fight to end severe acute malnutrition in Africa. More than 50 existing and potential funders, manufacturers, and customers engaged in the day-long dialogue and planning session. The group also heard a presentation from Dr. Mark Manary, the pediatrician and public health pioneer who developed Project Peanut Butter and led the RUTF revolution in the fight against severe acute malnutrition in Africa. Biggs is an ongoing advisor to MANA, providing priceless expertise in the areas of business modeling and distribution.

MANA celebrated World Food Day by unveiling its first Ready-to-Use Therapeutic Food (RUTF) to nearly 100 supporters at Ebenezer’s Coffee House in Washington, D.C. Founders Mark Moore and Bret Raymond along with Max Finberg (USDA Director of Faith Based and Neighborhood Partnerships), Brett Biggs (MANA Board Member) and Bobby Bailey (Invisible Children Co-Founder) spoke to an audience that had traveled from around the U.S. to hear a good news story about malnutrition. Guests sampled MANA (a peanut butter based RUTF), heard plans about delivering MANA on the ground in Africa and were the first to view a short film about the MANA movement.
There are 20 million children under the age of five suffering from severe acute malnutrition. 1 million of these children will die from SAM.
